Privacy Policy

HCFI processes personal details and other data in accordance with the applicable General Data Protection Regulation and legislation. We consider your privacy to be very important and will handle your personal data with care. Your personal data will only be used by or on behalf of us and will not be made available to third parties. Below you can read exactly what you can expect from us and what rules we follow.

Applicability

This privacy statement applies to the processing of

- the personal information provided by donors, business contacts and volunteers, and
- data obtained as a result of your visit to and use of our website.

Processing of your data

HCFI maintains a donor administration that also records personal data of other relations. Relations are persons that have signed up for a newsletter or are involved in our work (as a volunteer) but are not donors.

HCFI encourages its relations to contribute to the objective of our foundation through actions and campaigns. The work of HCFI is fully funded by donations. We collect personal data (name, address, place of residence, telephone number, email address, date of birth and church background) in order to provide you with targeted information about our work and to ask you for your financial support.

Personal data is collected via the website when you sign up for one of our newsletters and when you register as a donor or volunteer. Personal recruitment also takes place via an application form or a telephone call. HCFI occasionally uses the services of third parties to supplement and update its database. In all cases we will ask you for your explicit permission to do so.

Financial data and personal details are collected to execute the agreement (donation, authorisation, periodic donation). These data will not be provided to third parties for commercial purposes.

HCFI has the ANBI status (ANBI is the Dutch legal equivalent of Non-Profit Organization).

Viewing, changing, or deleting data

You can at any moment request access to the data we have recorded about you, or have these data changed or deleted. You can report your changes by telephone to the HCFI Nederland administration desk: 0342 - 473090 (during European office hours) or by e-mail: editor@hcfglobal.org.

This is also the place to be if you no longer wish to be informed about our activities. HCFI is obliged to request proof of identity before we can provide you with information regarding your personal data in our records. You can also submit a request by letter, stating your name, address, telephone number and a copy of a valid identification document, addressed to the administration of HCFI Centre, Vincent van Gogh Street 15, 3781XM Voorthuizen.

Contact with donors and relations

HCFI informs its donors about the global ministry work via magazines, email, post, telephone, website and/or social media. On a regular basis a request is made to support the work of HCFI with a financial contribution and prayer.

E-mail

When you, as a subscriber to one of our newsletters, as a donor or as a requester of information, have given your email address to HCFI, we will inform you by email, to update you on our work and results, and for requests for a financial contribution.

When sending email newsletters, HCFI uses a system that provides insight into how these emails are opened. It is also possible to see whether the links in our emails are clicked on. This enables HCFI to further optimise the information it provides to its constituents and to better attune it to their interests. Our registration system also allows us to make selections, enabling us to better target specific groups.

Unsubscribe from e-mail newsletters

Would you like to receive fewer or no messages from us? You can unsubscribe at any moment by clicking on the unsubscribe link in the mailing you received, by calling the HCFI administration at: 0342 - 473090 (during European office hours) or by email: editor@hcfglobal.org

Visiting our website

Our website (www.hcfglobal.org) does not collect personal data, unless you deliberately provide it to us. You can provide your personal data to request information, to receive our newsletter, to make a donation, to invite us for a presentation, etc. This data will be treated confidentially and used to provide you with the best possible service.

HCFI makes use of website statistics through Google Analytics. General visitor data on the website is registered anonymously. This enables HCFI to see, amongst other things, how many people have visited our website and which pages are most frequently visited. The purpose of this is to optimize the design of the website and to find out what visitors find important on our website.

The website of HCFI, like most other websites, makes use of cookies. A cookie is a small text file that is placed on your computer when you visit a website. It works as a reminder for the visited website and on your next visit this website can recognise the text file again. Almost every website uses cookies, for example to keep track of website statistics.

Cookies contain a number. They do not contain any personal data. HCFI cannot therefore use cookies to recognise you personally. Neither can cookies be used to recognise you on other websites. You can set your browser in such a way that you will no longer receive any cookies. In this case HCFI cannot guarantee that all services and functionalities on our website will work correctly.

The website of HCFI contains a number of links to other websites. HCFI is not responsible for the manner in which these websites deal with your personal data. For this purpose, please read the privacy statement of the website you are visiting.

Security

HCFI has taken technical and organisational measures to protect personal data against loss or any form of unlawful processing. In this way we ensure that personal data is only accessible to those employees who are authorised to do so by virtue of their position, and that we only use the personal data for the purposes for which it was obtained and compatible purposes. Personal data is kept online in secured storage until you request the removal of your personal data.

Questions regarding privacy policy

HCFI reserves the right to modify its privacy policy. If you have any questions regarding this policy, please contact our Privacy Officer. His details can be found at the end of this document.
